Zehnder OnFloor and InFloor – effective and hygienic

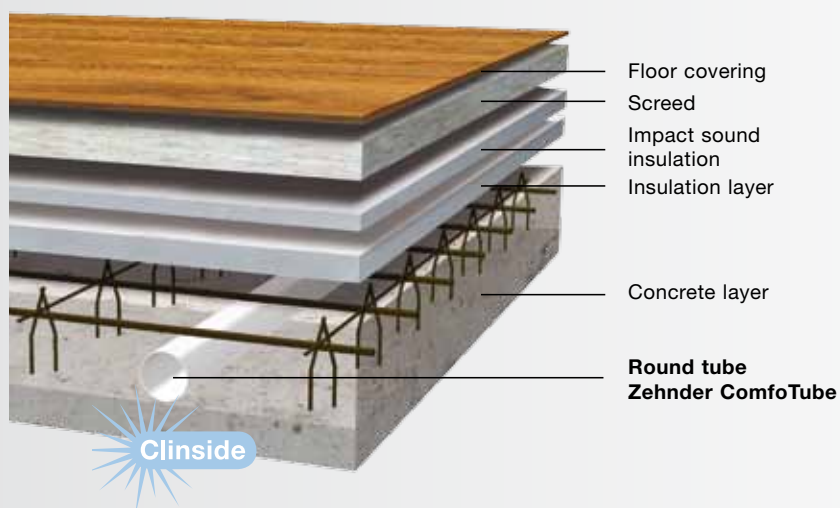

There are two versions of air distribution systems available. In both cases, the volume of air is regulated as required. They are both recognised for their problem-free integration into the building and rapid installation. In the case of Zehnder OnFloor, fresh air flows through patented, flat, oval ducts with an internal coating, which are installed in the insulation layer of the unfinished floor. Zehnder InFloor functions on the same principle, only the round tubes are laid in the unfinished floor.

OnFloor air distribution (on the unfinished floor)

- Oval, flexible flat tube (51 mm) – easy to install
- High-quality food-grade plastic (HDPE)
- Clinside smooth internal coating
- Air volumes can be adjusted centrally or locally
- Low pressure drop
- Easy to clean

InFloor air distribution (in the unfinished floor)

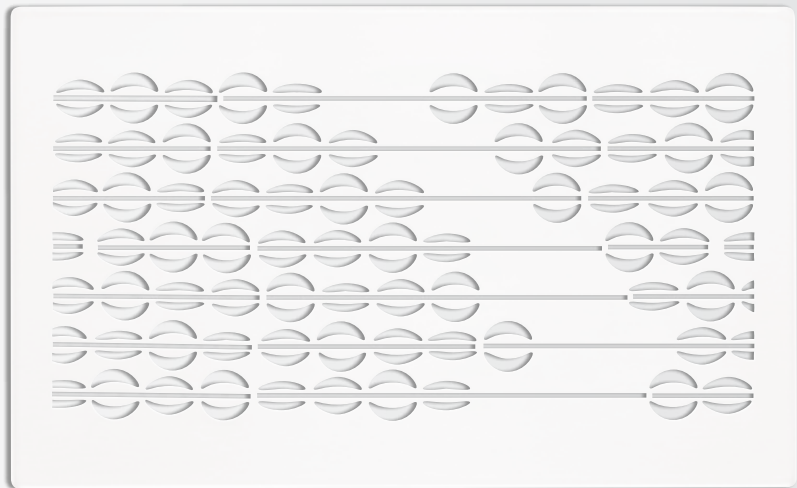

- Flexible round tube – easy to install
- High-quality food-grade plastic (HDPE)
- Clinside smooth internal coating
- Air volumes can be adjusted centrally or locally
- Low pressure drop
- Easy to clean

Clean thanks to Clinside: The smooth internal coating prevents dust from building up. For easy cleaning.
